AN ARKANSAS GIRL

Parting Note from the Poor Girl Charley White, Said to be a Street-Car Driver-The Coroner's Inquest-An Appropriate Verdict.

At the bagnio of Blanche Curry, on Jefferson street, east of Bayou Gayoso bridge, a girl called Pauline Markham, or Pauline White, committed suicide by taking a large dose of strychnine, under the following circumstances: The girl came here some time since from Searcy, Arkansas, where her people reside. She was a tall, large, finely-formed girl, a brunette, with jet black hair. Yesterday morning she went to Blanche Curry's house from the bagnio of Gerty Herzog, on Court street, near the Charleston depot. on Court street, near the Charleston depot. She secured a room and appeared to be in She secured a room and appeared to be in good spirits. She went up town during the day and on returning said she had received a letter from her aunt, Mrs. Margaret Holeshain, of Scarcy, Arkansas. She had also received a note from a man named Charley White, her friend, who resides in this city and who is said to be a driver of a street-car. and who is said to be a driver of a street-car. At one o'clock this morning Blanche Curry, who slett in the front room, heard the girl screaming in the back room. Running out of door, several men were called in by Blanche Curry, and they entered the girl's room. As they did so, she said: "You're too late; I have taken strychnine." She screamed and struggled violently, and died soon afterward in great sg ny, although she was given sait and water, milk and other su, posed anti-dotes by those around her. On the bureau were three letters—one that she had received from her aunt at Searcy, Arkansas; another scaled and addressed to her aunt, Mrs. Margaret Holeshain, Searcy, Arkansas, and a third, an open note, which was as follows:

MEMPHIS, TREN., August 17.

Dear Charley White:

I set myself to write you a few lines to let you know this is the least night of my life. You are the cause of it. I killed myself to-night for you Charley. You know you have not done what you said you would, so I have done all I can do. Charley I love you more than any one elsa, so I will close Good by, and God bless you.

It was his standing rule that when any of his soldiers came within his courier line they were to be treated with the utmost respect. His dead were never deserted, and his wounded were always cared for by him with the tenderness of a woman. Our observation of him convinces us he would be of great value as the commander of a volunteer soldiery. His qualifications are unquestioned." General Bragg also advised his promotion, and he was soon there-after placed in command of the Nineteenth Alabama regiment. He commenced his career at Shiloh, and was the hero of one thousand one flicts and two hundred battles. He had the happy faculty of adapting himself to circumstances. Members from every lodge all over the country will be present, and the attendance, it is estimated, will not fall short of thirty thousand, and aside from this fully fifty thousand, and aside from this fully fifty thousand visit as are expected. Uniformed divisions of the order will be there from Chicago, Richmond, Dayton, Cleveland, Uincinnati, Baltimore, Philadelphia, Virginia, Kentucky, Kansas and Canada, as well as a number of drill-corps from the Supreme jurisdiction. Over two thousand dollars in gold will be distributed among the best uniformed divisions, drilled corps and bands of the order. The St. Louis divisions will not compete for any prizes except two regulation flags—the first valued at one hundred and fifty and the second at seventy-five dollars—and the whole interesting exercises will take place at the fair-grounds on August 26th. The first day will be given to the reception of the visiting organizations and Knights. On the second day a reception will be given to the Supreme lodge by the Grand lodge of Missouri, and the welcome address will be delivered by Supreme-Chancellor-of-the-World D. B. FIVE MURDERS die jower each, and the lights se strong that the work of the steamer can be done as well and quickly at night as in dsy.

St. Louis, August 17.—The fifth murder that has been committed here or in the immediate vicinity in the past forty-eight hours occurred on the street opposite 638 South Fifth, about half past three o'clock this evening. It appears that yesterday the barkeeper at the saloon of William Johnson, corner of Fourth and Mulberry streets, had a difficulty with Charles Seibert, a blacksmith, and ordered him out of the house. To night Johnson and Seibert met on Fifth street, when some angry words passed about the matter. Johnson and Seibert met on Fifth street, when some angry words passed about the matter. Johnson drew a pistol, but before he got the weapon cocked, Seibert drew a self-cocker and fired three shots at Johnson, one of which passed through him just above the right pipe, inflicting a wound from which he died in a few minutes.

UNFERMENTED MALT BITTERS  MALT AND HOPS

EXHUSTARD VITALITY.—The purest, safest, and most powerful rectorative in medicine may be found in MALT BITTERS, prepared without frementation, from Canadian Barliey MALT and HOPS. This matchiess Nutrient is richer in Bone and Muscle-producing Materials than all other forms of malt or medicine, while free from the objections urged against malt liquors.
